In 1903 an Ordinance to establish a University for the North-West Territories was passed. The Ordinance contained special provisions against the introduction of sectarianism and undue political influence into the management of the University.

The Act establishing the University of Saskatchewan was passed on the third of April, 1907. It provided for a Convocation consisting of all graduates of any University in His Majesty's dominions who were actually residing in the Province for three months prior to the first meeting and who applied for registration. Four hundred and fourteen names were placed upon the register.

At the first meeting of Convocation, held on the sixteenth of October, 1907, the Honorable Edward Ludlow Wetmore, Chief Justice of the Province, was unanimously elected Chancellor; and the following were elected members of the Senate: Bishop Grisdale, D.D.; G. E. McCraney, LL.B., M.P.; J. W. Sifton, B.A.; A. H. Smith, B.A.; F. W. G. Haultain, B.A.; A. H. Ball, M.A., LL.B.; Mr. Justice Prendergast, LL.B.; E. B. Hutcherson, M.A.; D. Low, M.D.; Rev. E. A. Henry, B.A.; A. M. Fenwick, M.A.; and D. J. Thom, B.A.

The Senate met on the eighth of January, 1908, and elected A. F. Angus, A. Hitchcock, J. Dixon, J. Clinkskill and Andrew Macdonald members of the Board of Governors; and on the twenty-fifth of March of the same year the Lieutenant Governor in Council appointed Levi Thomson, James McKay, K.C., and Archibald P. McNab members of the same board.

The Board met in May and elected A. F. Angus, Esq., Chairman. On the twentieth of August, 1908, Professor Walter C. Murray of Dalhousie University, Halifax, was appointed President.

The Senate at the meeting held on the twentieth of January, 1909, decided to establish a College of Arts and Science and a College of Agriculture in the University.

The Board of Governors met on the fifth of April, 1909, and located the University in the city of Saskatoon. It was decided to open the College of Arts and Science in September, 1909, and the College of Agriculture in 1910. Dean Rutherford and Professor Bracken were appointed to the staff of the Agricultural College.
ADMISSION.

OPENING OF SESSION

The College of Arts and Science will be opened on September 21st, 1909. The matriculation examinations will begin the following day, and lectures on September 28th.

REGISTRATION

All students on being admitted to the University are required each year to enter their names on the register, supply the Registrar with the information required and pay the registration and tuition fees. Every student is subject to the disciplinary powers of the University authorities.

ADMISSION TO CLASSES.

Classes are open to persons of either sex of good moral character who have attained at least the age of sixteen and who are deemed qualified to take up the work of the classes which they propose to enter.

In September, 1909, students will be admitted into either the first or second years of the B.A. or B.Sc. Course. If four or more apply before September 1st, 1909, for admission into the third year of the B.A. Course, provision will be made for the necessary classes.

Students who have passed the Junior or Senior Matriculation examinations, or their equivalents, will be admitted as Undergraduates into the first and second years, respectively. Students from recognized Universities will be given corresponding standing in this University.

CLASSES OF STUDENTS.

There are three classes of students. Those who have passed all the subjects of the matriculation examination and are candidates for a degree shall be known as Undergraduates. Those who have passed all the subjects of this examination, save one or two, and are candidates for a degree shall be known as Conditioned Students. Partial Students are those who are pursuing a course for general culture. No Partial Student under the age of eighteen will be admitted, unless he produces a certificate of having taken a satisfactory course of instruction in some recognised school or college.

A Partial Student, who subsequently becomes an Undergraduate by passing the matriculation examination, may at the discretion of the Faculty be given credit for any class or classes which he may have attended and passed as a Partial Student.
MATRICULATION.

In order to matriculate, or be enrolled as Undergraduates, candidates are required either to pass the matriculation examination held by the Department of Education in June or the examination held by the University in September, or to present certificates of having passed other examinations recognized by this University as equivalent.

Certificates of having passed the matriculation examinations of recognized Universities in Canada or the United Kingdom will exempt candidates from the matriculation examination of this University. The examinations for Teachers’ Licenses of the First and Second Classes will be accepted for the Senior and Junior Matriculation, respectively, in those subjects common to the two examinations. Should a holder of a Teachers’ License wish to complete his matriculation, he may do so by passing the University examination in those subjects of the matriculation which were not included in the examination for his license.

The University will accept those certificates issued by other Universities, Colleges or Departments of Education, which are recognized by the Department of Education as equivalent to its examinations for First or Second Class Licenses or the Senior or Junior Matriculation.
